WEEK 2017

LAYING THE FOUNDATION FOR INDONESIA'S FUTURE ECONOMIC AND INDUSTRIAL GROWTH

The Special Economic & Industrial Zones Expo-hub and Conference at Indonesia Infrastructure Week (IIW) 2017 will connect project holders, engineers, and contractors with new technology, best practice, and the latest regulatory information for the development, maintenance and operation of economic and industrial zones.

STIMULATING FOREIGN INVESTMENT AND DOMESTIC ECONOMIC GROWTH THROUGH SPECIAL ECONOMIC AND INDUSTRIAL ZONES (SEIZ):

Industrial Parks

Industrial parks offer a cost-effective way to increase access to basic infrastructure and ensure that production can be carried out in an efficient and effective manner. These investment options often specialise in select industries and provide resources, utilities, and connections to transport networks to optimize production chains.

As part of RPJMN (National Medium Term Development Plan), Indonesia aims to build 14 industrial zones outside of Java.

There are currently 9 SEZs approved by the government with plans for a total of 25 to be in place by 2019.

Special Economic Zones

Special Economic Zones (SEZs) in Indonesia are open to foreign investment and offer investors access to preferential regulatory infrastructure and taxation in an attempt to channel investment into specific locations. Indonesia currently has nine SEZs and plans for a total of 25 to be in place by 2019.

Creating sufficient infrastructure to support these 14 industrial zones is expected to cost 54 trillion Rupiah ($ 4.1 Billion).

Once established, each SEZ is expected to attract billions of dollars in inward investment and create tens of thousands of new jobs.
