INFRARAIL INDONESIA 2017: SUPPORTING THE DEVELOPMENT AND ADVANCEMENT OF INDONESIA'S RAIL TRANSPORT NETWORK

InfraRail Indonesia Exhibition & Conference 2017 is the newly re-branded segment of Indonesia Infrastructure Week (IIW) that connects buyers with new rail infrastructure technology and best practice for the construction, maintenance and operation of Indonesia's rail network.

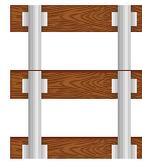

THE BURGEONING DEMAND FOR THE EXPANSION AND UPGRADE OF INDONESIA'S RAIL TRANSPORT INFRASTRUCTURE:

Indonesia's almost 5,000 kilometres of operational track is in a state of disrepair or needs to be upgraded to accommodate demand, while vast landmasses outside of Java have no rail services at all. As part of the country's National Medium Term Plan 2015-2019, the archipelago has targeted extensive investment in new tracks across Java, Sumatra, Sulawesi, and Kalimantan to help reduce logistics costs, ease congestion across densely populated areas, and provide a most cost-effective means of inter-city travel. More specifically:

$17.4 BILLION

of investment is required in rail infrastructure projects between now and 2019

2,159 KILOMETRES

of new inter-urban railway track is required to meet the medium-term rail infrastructure development goals

of new urban railway track is required to meet the medium-term infrastructure goals for densely populated areas

MASS RAPID TRANSPORTATION

MRT networks are scheduled to be delivered across 6 metropolises and 17 large cities to ease land transport congestion
